SUBJECT: Soil Erosion and Sediment Control Plan Review Fees

Beginning October 1, 2017, the Washington County Soil Conservation District will be increasing our fees charged for plan review services. This fee is being charged in accordance with Maryland Code to cover the cost of plan review services. The increase in fees is necessary to sustain our current staff level and current level of services.

During the regularly scheduled meeting, Tuesday, August 29, 2017, the Board of County Commissioners of Washington County, unanimously voted to approve the revisions to our current fee system as outlined on the attached document.

All submissions shall include site maps or sketches indicating property boundary, harvest area, distances and directions from the nearest road intersection, all access points, landings, haul roads, skid trails, waterbodies, buffer areas, and a plan modification (if applicable). A Buffer Management Plan would also be required if there is an intent to harvest in the buffered area. A U.S.G.S. topographic map shall also be included with the harvest area delineated.

All plans submitted October 1, 2017 or thereafter will be charged the new fees.
